OATH OF TYNDAREUS

When Helen reached marriageable age, the greatest kings and warriors from all Greece sought to win her hand.

They brought magnificent gifts to her mortal father Tyndareus.

The suitors included Ajax, Peleus, Diomedes, Patroclus and Odysseus.

In return for Tyndareus' niece Penelope in marriage, Odysseus drew up an oath to be taken by all the suitors.

They would swear to accept the choice of Tyndareus.

If any man ever took Helen by force, they would fight to regain her for her lawful husband.

Tyndareus selected Menelaus, king of Sparta, who had brought the most valuable gifts.
